YOUTH RESEARCH JOURNAL

October 26, 2023 - October 26, 2024

YRJ Start from zero and scratch within 2 weeks of plans, now I can't handle this much craziness. I coded the CMS, designed the whole graphics, wrote the entire social media posts, and already taught Research 101 to 250+ students.

-- Sanaul Haque

(President, Lead Researcher, & Mentor at YRJ)

Youth Research Journal

yrjournal.org

Youth Research Journal aspire to promote young researchers and writers by walking them through the standard procedures of publishing a research article; that is, delivering a manuscript, editing & peer-review, and finally acceptance or rejection.

Through our yearly-issues, we hope to bring the hard work of those writers to light while also providing a constant stream of quality, entertaining, and highly scrutinized content for readers hungry for explore. These articles, however, are but an initial spark that encourages readers to go beyond and delve more deeply into their topics of interest on their own, advertising independent research and self-learning.

Thank You

Wish you all the best for your future.

See you!

Always spread the positivity.
Work hard for you and humanity.
Be humble to everyone.
Your hard work always paid off one day.

This is your start of becoming a scientist,
and be happy you start this journey alone and you learn something that really helps you to skill up yourself in many areas.
